

Sven the Cactus presents...

Word Adventures

The word of the week is:

A small carnivorous mammal, with soft fur and retractable claws. Cats walk in a unique way, the next time you see a cat walk by, observe how they move their legs. They move both their right feet first, followed by moving both left feet next.

Cats are capable of jumping 6 times their length and they have 230 bones, whereas humans have 206. And despite popular belief, cats are lactose intolerant.

Word Adventures: Cats

Activity of the week: Colour

